Building Over $9 Million More in Area Than in '55

Building permits issued in the Kingston-Newburgh-Poughkeepsie industrial areas for the first nine months of 1956 indicate an increase in construction of $9,156,300 over last year, according to State Housing Commissioner Joseph P. McMurray.

However, private homebuilding in New York state continued its downward trend during September showing 5,360 dwelling units were authorized as against 7,349 units in September 1955, a decline of 27 per cent. This represented the lowest amount of homebuilding for the month of September in the past seven years, he said.

In Ulster, Dutchess and Orange county areas valuation of building permits issued was $19,415,900 for all types of construction. This consists of permits for 716 dwelling units (which includes permits for 706 one-family homes) valued at $7,561,200, approximately $3,146,000 for additions, alterations and repairs to existing buildings, and $8,708,700 in new non-residential construction.

Last years figures for the first nine months show permits issued for 937 dwelling units (which included permits for 935 one-family homes) valued at $10,259,600.

The decline was general throughout the state but especially sharp in New York city where it amounted to a 54 per cent drop between the compar-

Irwin, 2nd of New York city.

The committee in charge of the ceremonies feel highly honored that Mr. Watson, busy in the operation of the big IBM organization, is sufficiently interested in what the church women of Kingston are doing to take time from his duties to pilot his mother and sister to Kingston and have a part in the ceremonies honoring his mother.

Favorite Negro Paper Backs Ike

Pittsburgh, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Courier, a weekly newspaper with a large Negro circulation in all parts of the nation, said today it is endorsing President Eisenhower for re-election.

An editorial explaining the newspaper's stand will be carried in the issue scheduled to appear Nov. 3. The Courier publishes 14 editions in various parts of the country.

Officials of the newspaper said the Courier supported the Republican party "and all Republican candidates from William Howard Taft to Herbert Hoover."

In 1932 and 1936 the newspaper endorsed Franklin D. Roosevelt, but has supported Republican presidential candidates since. The editorial released for publication in advance of the newspaper's publication date said:

"The broad reason for our support of the Republican party rests in our conviction that its philosophy, in the significant meaning of the preamble to the Constitution, is better suited to promote the welfare of the people."

Adlai Renews Belief About Hydrogen Issue

By The Associated Press
Adlai Stevenson, renewing a hot campaign issue, charged today that President Eisenhower has an attitude of "hopeless defeatism" on "how to save the world from hydrogen devastation."

Eisenhower, his own campaign presumably enhanced by a favorable medical report, today for political rallies in scheduled an early departure

Issues Statement

Stevenson's latest blast in the continuing debate over the wisdom of halting hydrogen bomb tests came in the form of a public statement and an accompanying 3,000 word "H-bomb memorandum."

The Democratic presidential nominee said Eisenhower's own "white paper" on the subject last week "is remarkable for misstatements and distortions" of Stevenson's position in the argument.

Says Ideas Lacking

Stevenson said "the President not only is hostile to new constructive thinking by others on how to save the world from hydrogen devastation, but he quite clearly has no creative or hopeful ideas of his own in this critical field." He added:

"As in so many other fields, the President simply offers another do-nothing solution."

Eisenhower said Tuesday night, the United States could not "even dare" halt H-bomb testing without dependable worldwide disarmament controls. To do so, he said, might result in erasal or reversal of "our present commanding lead in nuclear weapons."

Adlai's View

Stevenson said Eisenhower attempted to "create the impression that my proposal would somehow weaken the defenses of the United States," adding:

"My proposal for an agreement to stop the test-explosions of the big H-bombs, would, if accepted, strengthen the military position of the United States in relation to Russia. We are ahead and to freeze the H-bomb race at the present levels would prevent the Russians from catching up with us . . ."

Stevenson said his proposal "would end or greatly diminish" the rate of radioactive pollution of the atmosphere, and "break the disarmament stalemate that now exists." Violation of an agreement not to test H-bombs could be detected at once, he said.

Ike Warns About Enemy

Stevenson also said "many outstanding scientists vigorously disagree" with administration contentions that the present rate of H-bomb testing does not impair the world's health.

"Your presence in such large numbers tonight and the enthusiasm I have encountered on trips here convince me that the Town of Lloyd will return to the Re-

3 Senators Are Called By Dulles

Briefing Planned On U. S. Action

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Secretary Dulles called three senators to the State Department for a talk today on the Middle East. The administration was reportedly alarmed at the possibility of war there in 24 to 48 hours.

The senators were George (D-Ga.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Langer (R-N. D.).

Briefing on Policy

Department officials said Dulles, in keeping with his policy during any international crisis, arranged the meeting to brief the lawmakers on what the United States is doing.

George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Fulbright and Langer are members of it.

As a rule, Dulles calls in any members of the Senate and House Foreign Policy Committees who are available in Washington.

Officials are said to feel that only the highest order of Israeli-Arab statesmanship could avert a Middle East explosion. They were looking mainly to Israel's Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, as the man who held the decision.

President Helps

However, officials were less pessimistic about the situation today than they were yesterday. They credited a personal appeal by Eisenhower to Ben-Gurion, made public yesterday, with having done much to help cool the situation.

With war jitters mounting, Israel was reported to have mobilized from 150,000 to 200,000 men along its frontiers.

Eisenhower took note yesterday of this Israeli military buildup. He issued an unusual public appeal to Ben-Gurion that "no forceful initiative be taken which would endanger the peace."

The President said "we have not heard of such large-scale mobilization in countries neighbor-

Some 'Stoar'

Turnersville, Tex. (AP)—A foxy retailer has displayed a sign atop his store here for many years that challenges the spelling of the King's English. It reads: "Hobin's Stoar." Inside sits an affable Irishman, John Hobin, 77, who has long since become used to people stopping by to tell him how to spell "stoar." They've come from as far as New York. School children stop by to tell him it's misspelled. But John's nobody's fool. The fading sign "Hobin's Stoar," has made his out-of-the-way establishment known throughout the state. People who otherwise would never have heard of Turnersville or Hobin have come by to see the sign.

Statue of Liberty Has 70th Birthday

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Statue of Liberty celebrated her 70th birthday yesterday with 1,267 new immigrants as special guests.

The refugees from 24 lands caught their first glimpse of the world symbol of freedom as they steamed into New York harbor aboard a navy transport.

A 21-gun salute boomed across the harbor in a salute to the pale green lady who has held aloft a welcoming beacon at Rose gateway to America since 1886.

The birthday party also saw the home of the statue officially changed from Bedloe's Island to Liberty Island.

Secretary of the Interior Frank Seaton praised the lady of freedom in ceremonies at her feet. The program launched a national campaign for five million dollars to build a museum of immigration on the island.

As Seaton spoke, the new immigrants watched from the decks of the Gen. William C. Langfitt. The ship was anchored a mile away.

One of the refugees, Martha Sebestyan, a 25-year-old Hungarian doctor, described their first view of the statue.

"When we saw the statue we knew it was New York. We knew it was America. We were waiting for it all during the trip." Seaton read a congratulatory message from President Eisenhower.

"The Statue of Liberty has come to stand for the common hope of the old world and the new," the President said. "This hope is the peace of mankind—all peoples living together in justice, mutual respect and prosperity."

Seaton lauded the contributions immigrants have made to the nation's life and said it is his "earnest hope that the new Congress in January will act promptly" to lift a "number of onerous restrictions on immigration."

The Statue of Liberty, a gift to the United States from the people of France, was first dedicated Oct. 28, 1886.

Car Over Embankment Called Halloween Trick

A "junk car" without tires or plates was dumped off the Platt Cove road near Haines Falls Sunday apparently as a kind of Halloween prank.

The car, which had been parked in its owner's driveway, plunged about 20 feet over an embankment, according to Catskill state police.

The car was reportedly pushed off the road by a group of Halloween pranksters. Someone saw the car go over and reported it to troopers, thinking it might be a stolen car.

The owner, whose name was not immediately available, reportedly told troopers he would have a wrecker remove the vehicle.

Middle East

ing Israel which would warrant such Israeli mobilization."

Advised to Leave

As a precaution against possible hostilities, the State Department last night advised from 7,000 to 8,000 Americans in Israel, Jordan, Egypt and Syria to leave immediately unless they are "performing essential functions."

Secretary of State Dulles, minutes after returning to the capital from Texas, conferred by telephone several times with Eisenhower. He later summoned Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban to the State Department to back up Eisenhower's appeal with his own plea.

A responsible official, who is closely following developments, told a reporter it was impossible to overstate the seriousness of Arab-Israeli tensions. He said the next 24 hours would be critical.

Banking on Plea

The United States is urgently hoping, he said, that Eisenhower's public plea will cause Ben-Gurion and Arab leaders to take a sober second look at where their policies are leading.

This official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the Middle East picture is far more serious than at any time since the 1948 Israeli-Arab conflict.

The main American fear seemed to be that Israel might regard the next few days as an ideal time to strike a blow at its Arab foes.

Israel might decide, officials felt, that Russia is so deeply involved in trying to cope with its eastern European difficulties that it would not be apt to rush aid to the Arabs in the Middle East and that the United States is so concerned by its approaching elections that it is not likely to take decisive action.

Third Appeal

Eisenhower's announcement said it was his third appeal to Israel against any military action which might spread into a bigger Middle East war.

"During the last several days," he said, "I have received disturbing reports from the Middle East. These include information that Israel was making a heavy mobilization of its armed forces."

Eisenhower said that by Saturday morning the reports were "so well authenticated" that after talking with Dulles he sent a personal message to Ben-Gurion. The President said this message expressed "my grave concern" and backed up a "previous recommendation that no forceful initiative be taken which would endanger the peace."

Eisenhower said he cabled his third appeal to Ben-Gurion yesterday after "additional reports which indicate that the Israeli mobilization has continued and has become almost complete."

Diplomatic officials said Israel's mobilization amounts to a virtually complete calling up of all its armed forces. Israel has described it as "partial mobilization."

Shokan

Shokan, Oct. 29—The Rev. Harlan Kishpaugh, Olive Bridge Methodist clergyman, was a caller in the village center Wednesday. The Rev. Mr. Kishpaugh was accompanied by the Rev. William Vertal, youthful pastor of Putnam Valley Methodist Church and guest minister to the Olive Bridge circuit in the "Four Nights for God" visitation last week.

Betty and Josephine Knickerbocker, Peekskill World War 2 veterans, who spent considerable time as small girls with Shokan relatives, have reenlisted in the armed forces. Both young women are nurses. Betty being a captain in the Air Corps and Josephine a lieutenant in the Navy.

Wedding anniversaries falling November 4 include that of the Amasa Slausons who were married in Kingston 25 years ago. Elder Slauson, pastor of the Olive and Hurley O. Baptist Church, was brought up in Delaware county, and his wife, the former Edith Secor, is a native of Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schmall of Canal road, High Falls, were callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

Stephen V. Palmer of Liberty street, Newburgh, was a Shokan caller Wednesday.

New Civil Service Rules Start Jan. 1

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Gov. Harriman said today that new attendance rules covering nearly 80,000 State Civil Service employees stemmed from "inequities" that caused "much justified dissatisfaction."

The regulations—covering hours of work, vacations, sick leave and other time off—take effect Jan. 3.

They cover both departmental and institutional employees. Each group previously was covered by separate rules.

Employees hired after the adoption of the rules will be permitted only 13 days of vacation the first year. A day will be added each year up to a maximum of 20 days. Present employees all receive 20 days.

A maximum five days leave is provided for religious observance or personal business. No definite time previously had been set for such leave.

Other changes increase sick leave from 12 to 13 days a year and provide for cash payment of vacation and overtime credits of employees who retire, resign or die.

No such payments were made before for employees who died. Payments in the case of persons who retired or resigned were made by keeping them on the payroll until the credits were liquidated.

More Are Appointed To Board on Sanity

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today named additional personnel to a commission that reports on the sanity of persons appealing for clemency after being condemned to death.

The appointees included Dr. Lewis I. Sharp, director of the Psychiatric Division of Bellevue Hospital, New York city.

Also named to the prison commission, which has had five psychiatrists-members, were Dr. George F. Elting of Wassiac State School; Dr. Benjamin Apfelberg, also of Bellevue; and Dr. Charles Brown, New York city consulting psychiatrist.

As psychiatric social workers to supply background information in clemency appeals, the governor named Irving Weisman of the New York School of Social Work, Columbia University, and Madeleine Lay, chief consultant to the New York City Community Mental Health Service. A third appointment is to be made.

The governor said that Sharp, Apfelberg and Brown, who have private practices, would serve without pay but would receive expenses. Other members are state-employed psychiatrists who serve on the commission in addition to their regular duties.

Cleveland Rally Pledges Aid For Hungarians

Cleveland, Oct. 29 (AP)—Wearing lapel ribbons in Hungarian colors and black armbands or mourning stripes, several thousand persons gathered yesterday at a statue of a Hungarian hero in University Circle and pledged support for Hungarians rebelling against the Russians' control.

Nearly 200 of those present pledged blood for the benefit of Hungarians wounded in the battles now raging in Budapest and other cities.

Civic and church leaders from this city's sizable Hungarian community were among those who met near the statue of Hungarian hero Louis Kossuth.

Principal speaker was Gen. Julius Kovacs, World War 2 Hungarian army commander and now vice president of the Committee for Hungarian Liberation.

"If we look at the brutality of Russian intervention in Hungary, it is not hard to realize that appeasement and coexistence are impossible under the spirit of the American Constitution," Kovacs declared.

U. S. Sen. George H. Bender told the group he would ask the president or a presidential aide for "any assistance short of armed intervention" that could be given the Hungarians seeking to free themselves from Soviet control.

AN UNFAIR SMEAR

It is supposed not be the popular thing, and therefore not the smart thing, to say a good word in public for a man who has a brain in his head or an extra dollar in his pocket.

For example, there are those who fear the big obstacle to President Eisenhower's reelection may be his record of tremendous executive competence and flawless personal integrity.

The idea is that, as his admirers tend almost to deify Ike, a lot of "ordinary people" simply will refuse to believe any mortal man can be so nearly perfect—so they'll vote against him!

In the same vein, we know some who believe Adlai Stevenson might have won in '52 if he hadn't been so frankly an intellectual, an "egghead."

So we're probably not going to make a lot of friends by speaking up for some fellows at whom the most caustic of the Democrats' early campaign barbs now are being hurled—"the Madison Avenue boys" of the advertising business.

We honestly don't know how much, if anything, professional advertising techniques had to do with the Ike victory in '52, and we're similarly in the deepest dark about where they may fit in the GOP's '56 campaign plans.

We're just not concerned with whether either political organization or both may use "Madison Avenue" help in seeking votes this year.

What bothers us is the reckless, destructive use of a lowbrow political smear against the whole of the basically decent and vitally useful advertising profession.

The simple truth is that intelligently conceived advertising, in all media of mass communication, has been the mainspring of this country's vast economic development and, in no small measure, of the country's social progress.

People have bought things they learned about through advertising. By doing so, they have helped create jobs for others while generating new or increased demands for the products of their own skills.

The farmer who sells his vegetables or beef to city dwellers obtains thereby the money with which to buy things made by industrial workers, who in turn use that money to eat more and pay more for vegetables and meat.

Advertising, devised by people of vision and ability, drives that whole, all-encompassing economic and social engine for the benefit of everybody.

If your livelihood depends on a job in American industry or business, don't let some political windjammer delude you into sneering at "the Madison Avenue boys," who are working just as hard, and just as honestly, as anyone in politics to make this a better country.

A LOOK AT THE YOUNG

Two oldsters—in their 40s, no less—stood to one side observing the young audience during the intermission at a college concert. The lobby air was filled, not only with chatter and cigarette smoke, but with an almost visible current of animation and keen interest in the hundred topics being discussed.

Said one oldster to the other: "Doesn't it make you feel young, watching them? They're so full of life."

Whereupon the other oldster groaned: "Yeah, full of life! And I'm tired. They don't make me feel young; they make me feel twice as old as I am."

We feel sympathy for the groaner. Yet we're inclined to go along with the first fellow. There's a great restorative power in watching young people engaged in the intense, gay, deadly serious, romantic fascinating business of living.

They do it with almost overwhelming energy. Sometimes the energy is a bit wearying to those in a generation beyond. But youth, for the trouble it causes, is a wonderful institution. Watching it in action provides a great lift.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
NO POLITICS HERE

Some regard it as courage. Others regard it as brazen. Some say that the one who has not sinned should cast the first stone. Others say that the whole issue has been made by press agents for profit and that the morals of a nation should not be debased by politics.

This is what Ingrid Bergman said: "All right, I had a baby before I was married. It's not the first time that ever happened to a woman. If the two people love one another and marry, and if they have a happy family, isn't that what counts? Anyone can make a mistake. It's how they act after the mistake that should be judged."

Miss Bergman unfortunately misses the point of her argument, although elsewhere she did state it differently:

"My decision was a selfish one. I made it for my own sake. I put my happiness first. But I never dreamed it would end up as it did—never! I thought sensible people could get divorced and be reasonable about everything. It never entered my head that I'd encounter such bitterness and that I'd lose Pia."

These quotations may have been prepared by Miss Bergman and may represent her philosophy of life or they may be a press agent's concept of what she ought to say to appeal to the American box office. In an era when the statements of principle by candidates for President are prepared by ghost-writers who have no principles but work for hire, it would not be astonishing to find ghost-written interviews and ghost-written magazine articles.

Miss Bergman's argument, in effect, is that there is nothing particularly wrong about a married woman bearing a child by a man not her husband. If she is right, then why should there be such an institution as marriage at all? All that is necessary is the desire, the craving, the yearning for what she, or any individual, calls happiness. And in such cases what constitutes happiness? It is apparently the satisfaction of private lusts unrestrained by social customs.

Biologically there is nothing wrong with this argument. The human race and the alley cat have much in common biologically. But sociologically man has developed the family and has struggled for tens of thousands of years to preserve it.

It used to be the view of some sociologists that the family system came into existence to preserve property. Woman was, in some societies, regarded as chattel and was owned first by her father and then by her husband. Karl Marx said in his Manifesto:

"On what foundation is the present family, the bourgeois family, based? On capital, on private gain. In its completely developed form this family exists only among the bourgeoisie. But this state of things finds its complement in the practical absence of the family among proletarians, and in public prostitution."

The bourgeois family will vanish as a matter of course when its complement vanishes, and both will vanish with the vanishing capital."

But Soviet Russia discovered what the human race has known for centuries, namely, that the destruction of the family system leads to social and intellectual decay. Soviet Russia has gone puritanical and regards the American obsession with sex a form of hooliganism representing Western decay. In fact, for such conduct as Miss Bergman permitted herself, a commissar could be expelled from the Russian Communist Party.

Were Ingrid Bergman a salesgirl in a department store or a dancer in the last row of the chorus, her views on love and marriage, first expressed by her countrywoman, Ellen Key, would only hurt herself and those close to her. But she is the idol of many young people, particularly after she played the role of the heroic Joan of Arc. She was not only beautiful in that role but she achieved a nobility of person rarely found among actresses—only a few possessed that quality; among Americans, Maude Adams is the best example. To millions then, she is a noble woman and if a noble woman in pursuit of happiness regards the family system as trash, then it must be trash.

There is the real danger in Miss Bergman's attitude. And even if it costs some movie company a loss, Miss Bergman's conduct cannot be condoned by society as long as she brazenly advertises it as correct. It is not correct.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
PARENTS OF THE HANDICAPPED CHILD

A handicapped child is "any child who has a mental or physical defect which prevents him from taking part freely in the activities so important to all children," according to Dr. Ruth Bakwin of the New York University College of Medicine in Post Graduate Medicine. Not included are children who have found a way of living comfortably with minor peculiarities.

I would like to deal with this subject in some detail because it is estimated that there are more than 3,000,000 physically or mentally crippled children in the United States and Canada and we can realize how many people are affected when we count in the families of these unfortunate children. There are no good statistics on the number of handicapped children but recently, since parent groups have been formed, the number of cases reported has greatly increased. Hence we have come to the conclusion that probably about 5 per cent of all children are handicapped physically and over 1 per cent have mental limitations which call for special schooling.

Dr. Bakwin feels that the parents' reaction is most important, in that the presence of a handicapped child in the family is always a shock and cause of grief and anxiety. Families secure in their relationship with one another can cope with the situation with greater success. The child's behavior difficulties have been found to be more often a response to the attitude of their parents than a reaction to their own physical disability. The most desirable parental behavior has been defined as "objective"—that is, the realistic acceptance of the child's behavior limitations, with sufficient care and affection to provide security for the child but not so much as to give rise to emotional dependency.

The parents of a child with a crippling disease or incapacitating handicap at first experience a period of grief mixed with shame, guilt, despair, and rebellion. The question, "Why did this happen to us?" recurs repeatedly. To have produced a child with a deformity is frequently taken by the parents as evidence of their personal inadequacy; in some way they feel responsible and to blame. Occasionally, as in cousin marriages or when a parent has a hereditary condition such as deafness, there may be some parental responsibility but the great majority of cases of disability or crippling present at birth are not in any way the fault of the parents or ancestors.

Nevertheless, guilt and shame are prominent parental attitudes. At times the blame is projected onto others—the obstetrician or some member of the family who is not perfect. Occasionally it is projected onto society in general. Many parents feel resentment at their child's misfortune and are unable to adjust to his presence. Parents accept more readily the disabling of a child already known and loved than when this occurs in a newborn or young infant.

Tomorrow we will discuss further the attitude of parents to a handicapped child and how this may affect the child himself.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The constitution is so lavishly disregarded by the courts, the executives, Congress and a public which is practically illiterate on this document that the impudence of Adlai Stevenson's proposal to abolish the draft in time of peace for sordid political reasons but not on constitutional grounds has escaped public notice.

Stevenson would have been on defensible ground if he had made the point that this draft violates the 13th Amendment forbidding involuntary servitude when the nation is not at war nor threatened with war. But he did not invoke the constitution at all. The draft law was adopted shortly before World War I. When Roosevelt raised an alarm with dramatic appeal to Congress, it has been in effect most of the life-time to date of the young men who are serving under the draft and are about to be drafted. They have never been free.

Before that, except briefly in the Civil War and World War I, this was a free country. Before World War I our people looked with lofty pity on the peoples of continental Europe who were subject to the draft as a matter of routine in their lives, come peace or war. Many of our fine German immigrants were fugitives from the Kaiser's draft and we acclaimed them as brave rebels against a hateful system which held them to be cannon fodder.

The Frenchmen, on the other hand, although they, too, were conscripted, did not object seriously to the draft. Few of them ran away to escape their military duty. There were important arguments for and against it in their case but in practical effect it gave a militaristic clique of politicians and generals power to bleed the nation almost to death for a slogan, "liberty, equality and fraternity." This liberty was abolished for the duration and the quality was an illusion.

"Fraternity" was a word implying that the lower economic and intellectual classes were the salt of the earth and were affectionate brothers. This was no more true then than it is here today. We babble of "brotherhood," which means the same thing, but we do not love one another except selectively and we never will.

Oddly, we respected the Frenchmen for doing their military duty but held the Germans, Russians and others in contempt. The British did not come to the draft until they adopted an experimental form called the Derby Act after Lord Derby, their secretary of war, who carried an umbrella, wore high-water pants

Health for All

Superstitions

Ghostly figures flit through the dark. Weird shrieks and laughter make the weird mysterious. It's Halloween again, the "hallowed eve" of All Saint's Day, when the souls of the departed are supposed to revisit the earth.

Originally a religious observance, Halloween was transformed by popular superstitions, some of them dating from the pre-Christian era, into the festival of witches, spooks, and hobgoblins that we in the United States know today. Spooks and demons today have been reduced to decorations and costumes for a children's party, but they were real and terrifying to our ancestors.

For centuries superstition was a powerful force in all aspects of life. Take medicine, for example. What do you think of this prescription:

"A wolf's liver infused in wine, the last of a lean sow, fed on vegetables and asses' flesh, together with the broth."

Or how about: "The smoke of dried cow dung, drawn through a reed and the tips of bullock's horns, burnt and powdered and mixed with honey."

These, believe it or not are old "cures" for tuberculosis which, centuries ago, as today, was one of the greatest health problems facing mankind. The first "cure" dates from ancient times, the second in vogue as late as the American Revolution.

In recent years these superstitions have been replaced by more effective treatment, most recently the use of specific drugs. Unfortunately, the decline of superstition regarding tuberculosis has not converted the disease into a "party."

This serious disease must be found early and treated promptly if the victim is to have a good chance for recovery and a return to a useful life. Tuberculosis has come a long way from wolf's liver and cow dung.

Party Control of Congress Called Need of President

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 29—Do the voters of America want to elect a united or divided government next week? Do they want a responsible government by party or an irresponsible government?

Theoretically the answer is simple—unity is preferred to political chaos. But do the voters know how to get it?

Judging by the advice of a big newspaper in the East, which came out editorially the other day supporting President Eisenhower and yet advocating defeat of certain Republican candidates for Congress, it doesn't seem to matter much to that newspaper whether President Eisenhower's leadership is permitted to function through a Congress organized by his own party. And if a big newspaper tells the people they need not be concerned with party when they vote for members of Congress, how is the average voter to learn the dangers of divided government?

Thus, certain Senators renominated by the Republican party—Messrs. Dirksen of Illinois, Duff of Pennsylvania, and Welker of Idaho—are running in close races, but the voters of those states are being asked by the same Eastern newspaper to cast their ballots for the Democratic nominee who must necessarily, if elected, help to organize the Senate for the party opposite to the President. Yet the re-election of Sens. Dirksen, Duff and Welker might furnish the very votes in the Senate needed to give President Eisenhower a majority of his own party in the upper house.

When the Congress is in the hands of one party and the Presidency is in the other, there is constant friction, and the public interest suffers. There is a chance then for the passage only of the legislation which can command a compromise—and usually even such bills are weakened and diluted just to get votes from both parties.

The handling of Congressional investigations is sometimes cited as a reason for voting for one or the other of the parties in order to get rid of or to elect certain individuals as chairmen. But minority members of committees can always raise Cain if there is any skulduggery or cover-up. It is more important to make sure that the President has in general a majority in the Senate and House committees to consult with him and decide what legislation is or is not permitted to be voted upon.

It is a big mystery how the Eastern newspaper that calls for the defeat of three Republican Senators can reconcile that bit of advice with its own persistent cry for civil rights legislation when it is known that, if the Democrats organize the Senate, the civil rights bills pending in committee will be kept as long as possible from seeing the light of day if any Southern Democrat is chairman of such a committee. The winning party selects the chairmen, who usually are ranked inside each party by the seniority system—on the basis of length of service.

It is an open secret, for example, that most of the Democratic nominees for Congress in the South have no use for Adlai Stevenson, and are supporting the Democratic national ticket only because this is the way locally to insure, because of the seniority system in Congress, their own continuance in the chairmanships—obviously to retain power to block civil rights legislation. This is more important just now to the South than the presidency.

But what is the average voter in the North to do? He looks at the candidates of both parties and likes or dislikes a particular nominee. Yet, while he says to himself he wants Ike to succeed, will he be giving the President, when re-elected, the help he needs in Congress to carry out his program?

The specious argument often made is that Mr. Eisenhower can count on more help from the Democrats than from the Republicans. It just isn't true. The President himself denies it. The last two years of political fighting by the two parties in Congress has done more harm than good to the public interest. Acts of sabotage of foreign policy programs and prevention of the passage of proposals for progressive legislation have come far more from the Democratic leadership than from the small group of dissidents in the Republican party. The Democratic leaders have had the actual power to keep important bills from being acted on at all. The Republican irregulars, on the other hand, have had only a handful of votes, and these have not proved a decisive factor on any really important piece of legislation in the last three years.

A vote, moreover, for a Democratic-controlled House of Representatives next week is a vote to give the speakership again to Rep. Rayburn of Texas. He has announced that he believes as Adlai Stevenson does about giving up the H-bomb tests and taking the military risks involved in abandoning such tests merely on the paper pledge of the Soviets. Under a law passed in 1947, the Speaker of the House becomes President of the United States if the President and Vice-President should die or be disabled. The operation of this particular law could completely nullify the will of the people as to what party should control the White House if the Republicans this year win the executive branch of the government while the Democrats are given control of Congress.

Incidentally, it is to be noted that, on the major bills of a domestic nature, Sens. Dirksen, of Illinois; Duff, of Pennsylvania, and Welker, of Idaho, have a better record of voting with the President than do many of the Democrats.

Differences on local and regional issues and sometimes on national questions are not unusual considering the varied interests of the nation's constituents. But the responsibility and the organization of committees in both houses in line with the programs of the chief executive are attainable only when the party in power in Congress is the same as it is in the White House.

A divided government is risky and dangerous. A government by the majority party in both executive and legislative branches is a responsible government. The people can then hold the party responsible for accountability at the polls in the subsequent election. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Next to the farm, home and mother, small business is the most sacred political cow in an election year.

There are around 4,252,000 small business enterprises with fewer than 500 employees apiece in the United States today. So there is a sizable vote involved. If there were enough discontent among small businessmen and their wives to make them all vote the same way, they could throw the election.

President Eisenhower's announcement that he will recommend a one-third tax cut—from 30 to 20 per cent—on the first $25,000 of corporate income is an indication that he has this subject in mind.

But this proposal, like most of the 13 other recommendations made by the Cabinet Committee on Small Business last August, is something for Congress to act on next year. It won't aid small business this year.

This gives the Democrats their opening to play up the plight of small business as a major campaign issue.

THE GREAT difficulties in sizing up this situation are the lack of adequate statistics and differences in interpreting such figures as are available.

Only 560,000 small business firms are incorporated—less than 14 per cent of the total. Most of the available statistics cover this group. They are the better organized and managed concerns. Most of them are doing all right.

There were over 140,000 new incorporations last year. New incorporations have been running at an annual rate of over 150,000 so far this year—a record high.

But business failures have also been up. The Dun & Bradstreet record shows 7,611 failures in 1952, rising to 8,862 in 1953, then a high of 11,086 in 1954 and down to 10,969 in 1955. For the first six months of 1956 the number was 6,496—indicating a possible 12,000 for this year.

Percentage-wise, the number of failures is up from 21/100 of one per cent in 1953 to a possible 28/100 of one per cent this year. This doesn't sound alarming. But the difficulties of the 10,000 to 12,000 failures are real to them. And that's what causes all the argument.

THE EISENHOWER administration claim that small business firms are now getting a larger share of defense contracts is open to question. Department of Defense says it was down from 21.5 per cent of the total for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1955, to 19.6 per cent for the year which ended June 30, 1956. The small business share was 3,475 billion dollars out of a total of 17.75 billion in military contracts awarded.

The administration takes considerable pride in the record of its Small Business Administration. It was created in 1953 to take over the small business loan program formerly handled by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

In SBA's first three years, which ended Oct. 1, it made 4,188 loans for a total of over 190 million dollars. The average loan was thus $45,000. But this aid went to less than one-tenth of one per cent of the small business firms.

ALL THESE factors present a confusing picture. One of the most critical analyses of the situation has just been made by Public Affairs Institute in a report, "Small Business at the Crossroads," by staff economist Wilfred Lumer.

It finds six factors now working against small business development, due to government policies:

(1) Military procurement still gives 70 per cent of its orders to the top 100 contractors. (2) Big business gets 95 per cent of government research contracts. (3) Nearly all of the government's accelerated depreciation allowances for new industrial capacity have gone to big business. (4) Credit controls have increased the cost of loans to small business more than to big business. (5) Tax policies have not given small business adequate assistance. (6) Bigger firms are permitted to acquire a disproportionate share of the country's business through mergers.

Economy Wave

Flagstaff, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona State College students staged a stunt to show the local businessmen what their spending means to the area's economy. They went on a picnic to Grand Canyon, about 150 miles away, with $10,000 in silver dollars in their pockets—and spent the money along the way.

Folsom Urges Action At Community Level

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Only through "action at the community level can social welfare be most effective," according to Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare.

Addressing the annual meeting of the national conference of Catholic Charities last night, Folsom declared that the major weakness of social welfare programs "is the serious lack of coordination between public and private agencies." "But," he continued, "the point at which such planning and coordination can be of most value is the community." The great challenge of welfare work today, he said, was "to kill the seeds of human want before they germinate." In another address, the Most Rev. William A. Scully, D. D., bishop of Albany, noted what he called the growing tendency in government social agencies to ignore "the importance of religion in dealing with the problems of families and children."

Vote in State May Exceed 1952

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—The Empire State Chamber of Commerce says it is possible the New York state vote Nov. 6 will exceed the record set in 1952.

William A. Mills, executive vice-president, said "last-minute efforts to get voters registered were more successful than had been realized."

There are about 7,700,000 New Yorkers eligible to vote in the presidential election. That is about 142,000 fewer than four years ago.

The state vote for president in 1952 was 7,216,054. Mills is chairman of an organization of statewide groups sponsoring a get-out-the-vote campaign. He issued a statement Saturday on the registration.

Forms Labor Group To Elect GOP Senators

New Hartford, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—David Evans, president of a Utica union local, has announced formation of what he has termed a statewide, non-partisan committee of labor executives to work for the election of Republican state senators.

Evans, president of a local of the Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union and committee chairman, said yesterday that the GOP labor record in New York "underlines the necessity for electing Republicans to the state Senate."

He said the Republican party had been responsible for the first state workmen's compensation law and the first anti-discrimination law. Evans said members of the committee were serving as individuals and "do not necessarily speak for their unions." He said membership was nearly 50 labor leaders.

Enfield Is Appointed To Public Roads Post

He was born in Watertown, N. Y., attended schools in Saxapahaw, N. C., and was graduated from North Carolina State College and the University of Virginia law school.

Enfield is an army veteran of World War II, married and the father of two children.

The White House has announced that Bertrand D. Tallamy, chairman of the New York State Thruway Authority, will head the new road program.

Cuban Assassinated

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 29 (AP)—The chief of Cuba's Military Intelligence Service, Col. Antonio Blanco Rico, was shot to death yesterday as he left a cabaret. The assassins, unidentified, escaped. Three persons with the 36-year-old intelligence chief were wounded. President Fulgencio Batista charged the assassination was ordered by exiled ex-president Carlos Prio Socarras and leaders of the Havana University Students' Federation. At his home in Miami Prio denied the charge, saying "every time something like that happens in Cuba, he always says it is my fault." Batista said his government knew of plots against the lives of other high officials.

Dies in Iron Lung

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 29 (AP)—Eugene Wolcott was found shot to death yesterday in his iron lung, clutching a rifle. Floyd Smith, acting coroner, said the wound beneath Wolcott's chin was self-inflicted and caused death instantly. The 34-year-old electrician had been under treatment for a paralyzing muscular disease the past three years. It reached his lungs in April and doctors said he would have to spend the remainder of his life in a respirator.

Newsman Shot

London, Oct. 29 (AP)—The British Foreign Office was advised today that Noel Barber, a correspondent for the London Daily Mail, was shot in the head by a Russian sentry while covering the fighting in Budapest. Leslie Fry, the British minister in the Hungarian capital, reported the wound was not serious and the newsman was being attended by a British doctor in the legation. The Daily Mail said Barber was shot yesterday soon after returning from the Austria-Hungary frontier, where he had given a dispatch to another correspondent for the paper.

Volunteers Being Sought to Fight Reds in Hungary

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Plans to recruit a volunteer army to fight against the Communists in Hungary are being made by a newly-organized group of Hungarian-born residents of western New York.

At its first meeting Saturday, the committee voted to ask President Eisenhower's permission to raise the army. The President, according to committee members, will also be asked,

"very shortly," to provide transportation for the force as far as the borders of Hungary.

The group, claiming to represent 10,000 Hungarian-born persons in this area, also voted to offer 1,000 pints of blood to the American Red Cross for Hungarians wounded in the current fighting.

Dr. Alexander Cline, a committee member, said the volunteer army plan would not involve the United States in any "international friction" because it would be made up only of Hungarian nationals now living in this country.

The committee named the Rev. Dr. Laszlo Vatai former member of the Hungarian parliament, as its head. Dr. Vatai is vice president of the Cultural Department of the Hungarian National Council and formerly taught philosophy and psychology at the University of Budapest. He came to the U. S. five years ago.

TRICK OR TREAT!

A Halloween Custom's Past and Present

One precedent for the traditional Halloween practice of "Trick or Treat" was the Muck Olla legend of Ireland. Muck Olla, named after a Druid god, was presumably responsible for a farmer's prosperity. On Halloween, a procession led by a man in white robe and horsehead mask, would stop at each farmer's house. If the occupant did not contribute generously to Olla's "messengers," he risked incurring misfortune on himself. Happily laden with produce, the procession would stagger home.

Tell-Tale Face Aided Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

An opponent's facial expression gave declarer the clue to the winning line of play in today's hand. The occasion was the match between the French and Belgian ladies in the recent European team championship, and a member of the Belgian team was playing the hand at six spades.

West led the four of hearts, and declarer played the ace from the dummy. She drew three rounds of trumps, ending in her hand, and then led a club to dummy's queen, forcing out the ace.

At this stage West looked so stricken that it was obvious that she regretted her failure to open a club instead of a low heart. South noticed this woe-begone expression and immediately decided to play West for a singleton club.

Declarer ruffed the heart re-followed her conviction by finesse the seven.

When this maneuver succeeded, declarer led the king of diamonds to dummy's ace and took a second club finesse to assure the slam contract.

West was scolded, justly enough, for betraying too much information during the play of the hand. In the excitement, however, nobody noticed that West could have defeated the slam by playing the queen of diamonds when South led the nine. This play would give declarer only one diamond entry to the dummy, and only one club finesse could then be taken.

Boy, 13, Loses Life In Shotgun Blast

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 29 (P)—Thoughtless play with a 12-gauge shotgun has cost the life of a 13-year-old Buffalo boy.

James Speaker was slain by a schoolmate last night when the latter fired at him with the loaded weapon believing it to be empty, police reported.

Authorities said James and Phillip Schreck, 13, were playing in an upstairs bedroom of the Speaker home with a shotgun belonging to James' father, Lester.

They said James loaded the weapon without Phillip's knowledge and then handed it to him. Phillip, in play, pointed the gun at James and fired, killing him instantly, the report continued.

The shooting was witnessed by James' brother Clyde, 12, police said, who entered the bedroom at the instant the weapon went off.

The three boys had been out target shooting nearby earlier in the day.

Phillip was questioned and released without charge.

Christmas Toy Sales To Aid Local Churches

Saugerties, Oct. 29 — Christmas toys purchased for cash at Western Auto Store, Partition street will benefit most churches in the Saugerties area, according to Charles Fous, proprietor.

The buyer will be asked to indicate the church to which the five per cent should be forwarded, Mr. Fous said.

At Christmas the amounts to the various churches will be tabulated and checks will be sent out from the store. The plan is effective this week.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

With the cold wind blowing one realizes that the cold weather and snow and blizzards will be here all too soon.

Going back into the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, Feb. 6, 1920, one of the heavy blizzards that paralyzed Kingston was written up. It was the first blizzard of the winter and it tied up the trolley road and even delayed the railroad trains leading into Kingston. The storm was accompanied by a strong wind that drifted the roads and made traffic almost impossible. The schools were closed Thursday and most of the factories were short handed.

It said, that the snow drifted so high that the trolley road found it impossible to run with any regularity Thursday morning. The Ponckhockie section of the city was without trolley service until later in the day. One trolley car got through as far as North street and then had to return to Abrynn street.

This trolley lay at the foot of Abrynn street for a number of hours unable even to get back to Rondout. Many Ponckhockie residents boarded the trolley but as the time passed, and the car was unable to start they decided it was quicker to walk to the Strand. Many of the girls employed in the factories from Ponckhockie, when they found the trolley was tied up indefinitely, returned home.

Fortunately for those residing in the Ponckhockie section, the trolley snow plow had been through early in the morning and those who walked, did not have to plough through as many drifts, to get to work.

Old timers remember the subway on the Colonial trolley line in the center of Kingston. It seems the snow plow of the trolley road did not work to advantage in the subway. To keep it clear of snow a gang of shovelers employed took much time. Just the same, the trolley road made every effort to run cars, and was able to maintain better service on the Kingston City division (Broadway) than the Colonial division (Hasbrouck line, we called it).

All of the local factories were operating with a short force as the employees found it impossible to get through to work. Those who resided out of town were forced to remain at home as it was impossible to get through with a rig as the snow had drifted and blocked the roads. Superintendent of Schools M. J. Michael, when he found how difficult it was to travel the streets, closed all of the schools for the day.

Telephone service was unusually good considering the weather conditions and most of the girls had reported for work. At the central post office it was said that the rural free delivery carriers had started out with their rigs about on time, but it was a question how far they would be able to get. The city carriers had a difficult time with the huge drifts of snow as they had to plow through to reach each residence. All work on the ice and local shipyards was stopped.

I remember one of these storms, snow drifted so high on the sidewalks that all we could see on the other side was hats walking, if the people were tall enough. In those days, everyone with a horse and wagon got work on the city during a snow storm and they shoveled and shoveled. Driveways and passageways from one sidewalk to another was the same problem it is today. Snow fighting is rugged work.

Cub Pack No. 13
Features Puppets,
Receives Awards

Achievements and advancements featured the monthly pack meeting of Cub Pack 13 sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Organization of School 7 held recently at the school.

The program presented by the Cub Scouts accented the Puppeteers theme of Cub Scouting. In keeping with the Halloween spirit, Cubmaster Clement Angstrom used a unique method of presenting the awards with the help of an "Old Witch" who brewed the awards in her steaming cauldron.

Advancements listed

Advancements were as follows: Bear Badge, Bernard Orr; Bear Badge, Robert Schnitzer and Lion Badge, Bruce Terwilliger. Wolf Gold Arrows were presented to Bernard Orr and Philip Stymal; Wolf Silver Arrows, Jan Vel 2, Philip Stymal and Justin Beck; Bear Silver Arrow, Bruce Safford; Lion Gold Arrow, Michael Angstrom. Bruce Terwilliger received a Lion Gold Arrow and two Lion Silver Arrows.

Denner stripes were earned by Thomas Krom of Den 4; assistant Denner stripes to Brian Findholt, Den 4 and Steve McGrath, Den 3. Two year service pins were awarded to James Plunkett, David Sargeant and Bruce Terwilliger.

The opening flag ceremony was conducted by Bruce Terwilliger. For the month's theme each den presented a display featuring Puppets.

Dens Present Puppets

Den 1 with Den Mother Mrs. Ellen Angstrom offered a display of story book finger puppets made by the Cub Scouts as a service project for grade 1 of the school.

Den 2 with Den Mother Mrs. Nell Safford presented a display of the "Smokey Bear" tie slides for Fire Prevention Week.

Den 3 with Den Mother Mrs. Myrtle Storm gave a display of Halloween favors made as a service project for the children's ward of Kingston Hospital.

Den 4 with Den Mother Mrs. Chris Beck presented an amusing puppet show.

During the business meeting Cubmaster Angstrom sought the aid of some of the fathers for November 3 when the Pack will participate in the "Get Out the Vote" campaign in the 12th ward. Each father will be delegated to take out a team of four boys.

It was announced that the next paper collection drive for the benefit of the Pack treasury will be held November 3. Assistant Cubmaster Robert Myers will make the collection at 12 noon.

The next Pack meeting is scheduled December 5 at 6:45 p. m. A Christmas meeting will be held with the P-TA at the school.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

HEALTH IS WEALTH

'Tis an old saying—that "health is wealth." But there are as many angles to it as there are spines on a hedgehog.

Not radar, T.V. nor stratospheric flight, but health is the greatest story science has ever told. For thousands of years, man has fought disease to stay alive.

Since Teddy Roosevelt became President, more progress has been made in the conquest of disease and the postponement of death than in the entire history of man.

Two thousand years ago, life expectancy at birth was about 25 years. In the next 1800 years it advanced to 35, a gain of 10 years. Fifty years later, in the U. S. A., (1850) four more years had been added, making it 39. In the next 50 years (1900) it grew to 49. In another half century (1950) it grew by 20 years to 69.

In the past 6 years, life expectancy in the U. S. A. has gone up two more years, to 71.

Talk about "the Golden Age"—this is it. Since 1800, the life span and the working years have doubled; and during each of these healthier years, man has produced more and more wealth.

Increasing health and its resulting length of life have contributed more to the wealth and well being of our people than all the gold, silver, iron, lead, zinc, copper and petroleum ever discovered.

So, neighbor, when you grow weary of politicians, crime and taxes, give a hand to our doctors, nurses and medical researchers. They deserve it.

GM Plant Strikes

Atlanta, Oct. 29 (AP)—Members of the United Automobile Workers Union went on strike at the General Motors assembly plant here early today after contract negotiations failed to reach agreement by the midnight deadline.

Pickets patrolled the plant, located at suburban Doraville. The union, representing some 2,900 employees at the plant, sought a contract change giving workers a choice of work shift according to seniority and a revision of lay-off and rehiring procedure. Talks between the union and company had continued all day

Sunday and were broken off shortly before midnight. Spokesmen said the talks would be resumed at 2 p. m. today. Only the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at Doraville is involved and GM plants in other cities will not be affected.

"Somewhere near Acapulco..."

"A friend had just been operated on. It was an emergency—really serious, and his daughter had to be told without delay. But she was on vacation in Mexico. At what address, nobody knew. 'Somewhere near Acapulco' was all I found out. I went to the phone and explained the problem to the operator. I don't know what she did, but in no time at all she had the daughter on the line. Telephone service like this just can't be beat."

POSTPONED WEDDING

"My wedding was postponed on account of illness. The engraved invitations had already been mailed but we had cards printed announcing the postponement. It is almost six months since then and I am planning to be married in six weeks. Are we obliged to ask everyone who was on the first list? Because my illness has caused considerable expense to my family I would like to cut the wedding list in half as I won't want to put them through any further unnecessary expense. My mother thinks we will have to go through with the original plans in order to avoid hurt feelings. Will you please advise me on this matter."

I agree with your mother. You can cut your expenses without cutting the list of guests. Everyone will understand its simplicity after the expense of such an illness.

Was She Struggling?

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my wife and I and another couple were dining in a restaurant. As we got up to leave, a young woman who was dining alone at the next table got up to leave at the same time. She was struggling to get into her coat and so the other man with us stepped forward to help her with it. Later on my wife mentioned this to me and said that she thought he was wrong to do this. I said I thought it was a perfectly proper thing for him to do. Will you please give us your decision?

Answer: The fact that you say she was "struggling" excuses his action and I see nothing wrong with it.

Who Sits Where?

Dear Mrs. Post: When two women and a man are seated together on the back seat of a taxi, do the women sit on either end and the man between them, or do the women sit together and the man on the other end?

Answer: The woman should sit together and the man on the end, so that he doesn't have to climb over one.

To help you plan a buffet dinner, Mrs. Post includes suggestions for invitation, table setting and a menu in her leaflet E-29, "Buffet Dinners, Lunches and Suppers." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Walter E. Edge, Former Governor Of Jersey Dies

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Walter Evans Edge, 82-year-old former governor of New Jersey, died today in Memorial Hospital from uremic poisoning.

He had been in the hospital since Oct. 11 and had undergone two operations, the latest Friday. His family was at his bedside.

Edge was a self-made businessman who took his business acumen into politics.

He served as governor of New Jersey during the periods of two great world wars and was ambassador to France during the Hoover administration.

Edge, born Nov. 20, 1873 in Philadelphia, was a power in Republican politics both on the state and national level.

He was one of the first prominent public figures to back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency in 1951. Prior to that time, he had served as a delegate-at-large at 10 Republican presidential nominating conventions.

Motorcyclist Reported Good After Mishap

An Ardonia man was reported in good condition today at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where he was taken Sunday morning following a collision between his motorcycle and an automobile in Savitlon, about two miles south of East Road.

Nicola DeStefano, 22, reportedly suffered abrasions and contusions of both hands, a cut over the right eye and possible skull fracture.

Newburgh state police reported that a 1950 sedan operated by George E. Decker, 38, of Wallkill, was proceeding south on Route 32 when it stopped to make a left turn.

The motorcycle, also proceeding south, struck the left side of the car, ran off the road and hit a tree.

There were no arrests.

Young Hunter Dies From Gunshot Wound

New Hampton, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—The body of William Wood, 14, who went hunting yesterday with friends, was found last night in a wooded area near this Orange county community.

Wood had died of a gunshot wound of the chest. Police were checking to find out whether the bullet came from Wood's own gun or whether he was the victim of another hunter's gunfire.

After hunting with two friends for a while yesterday morning, the youngster left them to return to his temporary home in Goshen for lunch. When he failed to show up, a search was begun.

The boy's family just yesterday moved from Goshen to Middletown but he was staying on to finish out the school term at Goshen High School.

The Rev. Edmund Radford officiated at the double ring ceremony.

She wore a gown of imported handclipped Chantilly lace over slipper satin fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice, trimmed with iridescent beads and seed pearls. Her long pointed sleeves ended over the wrist and her bouffant skirt was cathedral length. A fingertip veil of pure silk illusion was caught to a coronet of handclipped lace covered with iridescent beads and seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, gladioli and ivy.

The Mature Parent

What Do We Really Want From Our Child's School?

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Once in my presence a noted professor of psychiatry made this meaty observation: "The reason we so seldom get what we want is that we so seldom know we want it."

What do we parents want from our children's schools?

I think we don't know—or we'd have it.

The Great Books Foundation has set out to help us know. It has launched a new discussion program for parents called Great Issues of Education.

Suggesting that our conflicts over teaching methods, federal aid and other problems are really differences of fundamental views on the purpose of education, the program asks the key question: "What do you send your child to school to get?"—and offers us a variety of answers from which we can pick the one that reflects our own thinking.

For example, Aristotle and Dr. Wilbur A. Yauch of Northern Illinois State Teachers College think citizenship is the aim of schooling. They think that education's purpose is molding a child to suit the government he lives under.

But as a parent who recalls what governments have done to Jesus, Joan of Arc, and the Pilgrim Fathers, I agree with Bertrand Russell who thinks that the political control of education is denial of our right to think individually.

Should education's aim be the child's vocational training—the development of marketable skills he can be sure of selling at a profit?

Lots of people think so. Others agree with Bernard Iddings Bell who defines education as the development of ethical discrimination.

How do you feel about John Dewey's "progressive" idea that children learn something only by directly experiencing it? Does this idea make for standardized education as its critics say? Are those little visits to dairy farms so dear to the hearts of "progressive" teachers just mass-produced "experience" as artificial and sterile as a pink sugar rose on a baker's cake?

Or is the adult-conducted visit to the adult-controlled dairy farm a truly educational experience for children?

The Great Issue in Education program is a great chance for parents who want to burst out of old thinking on this all-important matter.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, wore a white ballerina length gown of lace over bridal satin cascading at the sides forming tiers of tulle in the back, mandarin collar and long sleeves. The fingertip veil was attached to a lace cap trimmed with sequins and pearls, and carried a white orchid on a prayer book with satin streamers.

Miss Ingrid Wustrau, maid of honor wore a ballerina length gown of yellow tulle with matching colored headpiece, and carried rust colored pompons.

Mrs. Otis Campbell, matron of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of light blue tulle, with matching colored headpiece, and carried yellow pompons.

Miss Barbara Smith, bridesmaid, sister of the bridegroom, wore a ballerina gown of pink tulle with matching colored headpiece, and carried lavender pompons.

Miss Candice Schwab, flower girl, wore a full length dress of white tulle trimmed with light pink flowers, with a light pink headpiece, and carried a basket of pompons varying in color like those of the other attendants.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of navy with pink accessories, and the mother of the bridegroom wore a navy suit with white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations.

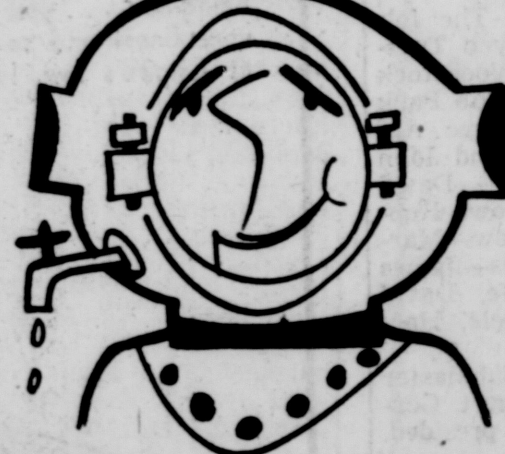

Best man was Robert Newman of Kerhonkson, and ushers were Roger Squire of Accord, Otis Campbell of Kerhonkson.

Junior Riding Days Awards Are Announced

Woodstock, Oct. 27 — The Woodstock Riding Club held its second junior riding day last Sunday on the club grounds at Ohayo Mountain.

Judges for the day were Mrs. Paul LePaige and Mrs. Andrew J. Snyder for the English Division and Herbert Teller and Peter Teller for the Western Division. Announcer was George Hard; ring clerk, J. C. van Rijn; ring stewards, William T. Golden and Charles S. Roach; attending physician, Dr. Paul LePaige; parade leader, Charles Riley; ring attendant, John Patterson. The following are the ribbon and trophy winners of the 11 different classes offered:

Fitting and Showmanship—Chris Countryman of Kingston on Tutti Frutti; Jumping—Gay Bare of Woodstock on Willow; Gretna Greene Race—Robert Riley of Saugerties and Billy with Betsy Milliken of Hurley on Jigger; Pony Class—Suzie Perlman of Woodstock with Suzie Mule; Pleasure Horse—English, Susan Ashley of Kingston on Misty; Pleasure Horse—Western, Chris Countryman on Tutti

Frutti; Pole Bending—Judy del Peso of Saugerties on Dolly; Western Equitation—Betsy Millikan on Jigger; Flat Saddle Equitation—Susan Ashley on Misty; Hunter Seat Equitation—Gay Bare on Willow; Musical Chairs—Betsy Millikan on Jigger; Obedience Class—Chris Countryman on Tutti Frutti.

The day's silver trophy for exhibiting best care and condition of horse and tack was awarded to Chris Countryman.

The Fitting and Showmanship class drew a large number of entries. This response to a class where grooming, cleanliness of tack, and handling of mount determined the outcome establishes the young riders' awareness that proper care of a mount and good horsemanship go hand in hand, it was pointed out.

Following the last class before the noon recess, Judge Peter Teller led his horse, Flika, which he brought along for this purpose, into the ring as an example of a well-groomed horse. Judge Teller and Flika have been in the Woodstock Riding Club annual show in the past and are scheduled for the parade class at Madison Square Garden on October 31.

A special feature called "apprentice judging" enabled registered contestants to work with the judges in judging the various classes. Those who made use of this opportunity were able to learn first hand about the points judges stress in rating the contestants of a class.

A third and final junior riding day for the fall season will be held Sunday, Nov. 11 at the Woodstock Riding Club grounds.

6th Board Holds Up Draffees in Alabama Rift

Camden, Ala., Oct. 29 (AP)—Halting of draft inductions by five Alabama boards in protest to the Fred D. Grey case has resulted in a sixth board's holding up draffees. The Wilcox county board is protesting the protests.

Chairman J. E. Lambert of Darlington said last night that "When they get the other five boards back in line, we'll get back in line." Until then, he said, no Wilcox county men will be drafted.

Four men whose orders to report were signed and mailed out to them, later received letters from the board dated Oct. 19 telling them not to report last Thursday as ordered, Lambert said. The letters did not give a reason.

"The reason it that all 67 counties (in Alabama) are not bearing the load," according to Lambert. Boards in Autauga, Bullock, Barbour and Bibb counties, plus Gray's Local 51 in Montgomery, are inoperative. The storm center, Fred Gray, is a 25-year-old Montgomery Negro attorney prominent in that city's Negro bus boycott. Classified 1-A while serving as a part-time pastor, he was ordered into uniform. The national selective service director, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, postponed that order indefinitely when he was told Gray had become a full-time pastor.

The postponement resulted in 14 resignations from the Alabama Selective Service System. The state director, James W. Jones, said yesterday in Montgomery that once draft orders are signed only the state or national directors can change them. He refused to comment directly on the Wilcox situation, which Lambert said he had been down investigating last week.

"I'm not taking issue with the boards in Alabama over the Gray situation," Jones said.

He earlier reported that crediting volunteers toward the quotas of counties not sending in draftees would enable the state to meet its quota.

Magazine Drive

Prisma opened its annual magazine drive this past Thursday when all girls at Kingston High school met in a special assembly to receive instructions in salesmanship from Wilsley Kissell, representative of the Curtis Publishing Company. For the second successive year Prisma is setting its goal at $10,000.

The following day Prisma sponsored a fashion show at which members of the club modeled the latest fashions for school, sports and evening wear. Those acting as models included Eileen Kiff, Mimi Basch, Nancy Echert, Karen Van Alsyne, Karen Byrne, Sally Kuehn, and Lynn Wright.

Other models were Linda Aldes, Kaari Ives, Anita Lenine, Maureen Fisher, Patricia Melville, Patricia Van Deusen, Laura Barmecelli, Mary Ann McGowan, Carol Linkai and Judy Haber.

Proceeds from the drive will be used to finance scholarships for senior girls graduating this coming June; to send a member of the junior class abroad for the summer and to assist in financing the exchange student who comes to Kingston High School each year from a foreign country.

Home room agents for the drive include: Mary Ellen Decker, Janelle Eaton, Betsy Vining, Roberta Hogan, Rosemary Bernardi, Jacquelyn Avery, Joan Dwyer, Joan Dunbar, Norma Campbell, Jeannette Jacobellis, Mary Ann Tiro, Sharon Wolslegel, Evelyn Whitman.

Last Saturday more than 200 couples attended the annual Harvest Moon dance held at the Kate Walton Field House. The gym was decorated with bats, cobwebs, spiders and white skulls and cross bones. Music for the occasion was furnished by Myron Rossi and his orchestra.

Kaari Ives served as general chairman of the dance with Lynda Marz as co-chairman. Other chairmen included tickets, Mary Ellen Decker; programs, Shirley Hoffer; decorations, Valerie Millard; orchestra, Karen Byrne and Pat Van Deusen and chaperones, Jacqueline Post and Sally Kuehn.

Dramatic Groups

Students of the high school are showing an unusual interest in dramatics this year and Miss Madeleine Tarrant, club advisor has expressed her pleasure at the enthusiastic response of prospective members for both Maroon Masquers, upper class club and the Frosh-Soph Dramatic Club, for underclassmen.

Juniors to Organize

Members of this year's junior class held their first meeting this past Monday afternoon when candidates were nominated for the various offices. Those running for president include Marvin Shaub, Frank Sammons, Joseph Ambrose and William Kelly. Those named for secretary are Jacie La Rocca, Frank Weishaupt, Carol Dykes and Libby Lee. Rick Fradsham, Connie Ambrose, Robert Quarantino, Ted Swift, Pat Lanagan and Marvin Engle are competing for the post of class treasurer. Balloting will take place this coming week.

Tryouts for these clubs resulted in a record breaking attendance with 60 hopefuls reporting for the underclass group eliminations. Because of the large number wishing to join the club, further tryouts will be held early in November. Both groups are planning to present assembly plays.

Science Club Trip

For its first project this fall Science Club sponsored a trip to New Paltz State Teachers College where they attended a lecture by Richard F. Dempwolf, eastern editor of Popular Science Magazine. Debating Group

Earlier this month 11 members of the school debating club accompanied by their adviser, Miss Grace Gordon, attended a demonstration debate given by the Eastern New York Debating League.

Those making the trip to New Paltz where the model debate was held were John Snyder, Richard Di Donna, Jerry Singer, Craig Spencer, Miriam Schechter, Carla Carlotti, Bonnie Streifer, Charlotte Brugman, Lucille Clark and Julie Boland.

Underclassmen have shown a great interest in debating this fall and the club has enrolled a number of new members. These include Julie Boland, Penny Johnson, Charlotte Brugman, Lucille Clark, Brenda Bareika, Linn Carl, Arlene Vollmer, Beth Penrose, Barbara Shultz, Miriam Schechter, George Chilson, Craig Spencer, Richard Noble, Bonnie Streifer, Jerome Singer, Lorraine Etienne, Marie Sinan, Lewis Levy, John Livingston, Carla Carlotti, Paul Nowaczek, Barbara Sobsey and Kayla Abelow.

Journalism Club

Journalism has also held a strong appeal for the newly arrived freshmen and large numbers of this class are working on Dame Rumor and have become members of the Journalism Club. This club is divided into four groups of 10 members each. It is these groups which write the school news for the Kingston Freeman each week.

Cub reporters include: Ruth Cawston, Andrea Davenport, Judson Emerick, Sheila Epstein, Mike Koenig, Sheila Kreppel, Sherwood Landers, Robert Larson, Rhea Schechter and Helen Svitsky.

Members of a second group are Joseph Mauceri, Linda Carpino, Roanne Smith, Brenda Bareika, Beverly Lewis, Stene Pauker, Barbara Sobsey, Carol Speigel, Susan Umpleby, Louis Werbalowsky and Blanche Smith. 12 Ulster Towns Receive Rates on Equalization

The State Board of Equalization today announced tentative 1956 equalization rates for 12 towns in Ulster county. All are the same as those for 1955.

The tentative rates announced today: Esopus 22, Gardiner 15, Hurley 42, Kingston 19, Marlborough 23, New Paltz 18, Olive 16, Platekill 11, Shandaken 36, Shawangunk 27, Wawarsing 20, Woodstock 15.

Tentative equalization rates, based on 1956 assessment rolls, were established for a total of 552 towns.

A hearing on these town rates will be conducted by the Equalization Board at 11 a. m., Nov. 15, in Hearing Room 3, 55 Elk street, Albany.

Tentative rates for the remaining 380 towns of the state will be established soon, the board said. Rates in 132 of the towns listed today are changed from their 1955 level, but rates in 420 remain the same.

These tentative new state equalization rates for towns, as in the past two years, are based on the average market value of local real property on July 1, 1949 and January 1, 1952.

In making its computations, the board took into account local assessors' reports on 1956 assessment rolls and additional information on local real property values which had been obtained in a number of the towns.

The Associated Press reported Friday the board had announced rates for 19 more cities, along with final rates for four other cities. All are the same as those for 1955.

The tentative rates announced Friday: Beacon 51, Cohoes 46, Dunkirk 28, Fulton 39, Geneva 54, Middletown 63, Mount Ver-

This paid-in-full protection for Blue Cross members is made possible only through the direct co-operation of Blue Cross member hospitals

Do you have the protection that covers most hospital bills in full?

Hospital bills are a problem to be faced within 12 months by 1 in every 3 New York families.

If you got a bill like one of the actual hospital bills pictured above, how would you pay it?

If you could see the big bills that pass through our office each day—bills for $300, $500, even $1,000 and higher—you'd understand why your family, indeed every family in the New York area, needs Blue Cross protection.

It's the finest protection you can get. In fact, only Blue Cross covers so many hospital bills in full.

"Paid In Full" Protection sets Blue Cross apart

Blue Cross provides the most complete hospital care protection at a cost within reach of most people.

Instead of a set dollar allowance of so much per day... which often is not enough to pay a hospital bill... Blue Cross covers the actual hospital services most people need to get well.

And Blue Cross provides these paid-in-full "service benefits" at member hospitals without setting a cash limit on them.

So, if you are a non-maternity patient in a semi-private room, chances are your hospital bill will be covered in full for you. Your hospital sends the bill directly to Blue Cross... and Blue Cross covers most hospital bills in full.

Will You be the 1-in-3 with a hospital bill this year?

You can't tell for sure right now. But, the averages say that one family in every three in the New York area will have a hospital bill within the next 12 months.

It could be you—or a member of your family. Wouldn't you feel safer—wouldn't you be better off—if your family was protected?

Over six-and-a-half-million people in the New York City area—over half of the entire population—rely on Blue Cross for their protection.

And, across the nation, more than 52 million people have joined 86 local Blue Cross plans. Can 52 million Americans be wrong?

How you can protect your family

There are two ways to enroll yourself and your family in Blue Cross: through a Group where you work; or, by direct enrollment (we call it Non-group enrollment). For full details write for the free booklet. It tells you what Blue Cross covers—and does not cover. Today, write New York's Blue Cross, Dept. B-46, 80 Lexington Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.

Only Blue Cross® covers so many hospital bills in full!

LeFevre Sponsors Greer School Drive

Jay LeFevre, prominent businessman of New Paltz, former Congressman and active civic leader of Ulster county, today announced his acceptance of the sponsorship of the fund drive by Greer School, at Hope Farm, Dutchess county, on the occasion of its 50th anniversary.

In his appeal to friends and neighbors of Ulster county, Mr. LeFevre states: "For several years I served as Ulster sponsor on behalf of the homeless children at Greer School. I also was a member of its board. I know from experience the quality of its work for bewildered children." He then added that for 50 years Greer has given a home and an education to thousands of youngsters from broken homes, including six from Ulster. One of our children is at Greer now.

"The task that confronts the friends of Greer," Mr. LeFevre continues, is to launch this home and school on its second half century of service to homeless children. This means that $1,500,000 in capital funds must be raised to rehabilitate this 50-year old institution, in addition to the usual $175,000 in annual gifts to cover the daily needs of the children.

Mr. LeFevre also reveals that of the needed capital funds and annual gifts, one-third has already been given or pledged. "But," Mr. LeFevre quickly observes, "we still have a long way to go to reach the goal. It will require the utmost generosity of heart and checkbook to help the children from broken homes that Greer will be able to care for them, give them an education, vocational training and spiritual guidance for the years to come."

Today's TV Story...

PUPPET SHOW

The TV or variety show puppet doesn't have a mind of his own. He just sits on somebody's lap and says what somebody else tells him to.

It's the same with our Ulster County Assemblyman. On October 16, he stood on a platform at a meeting of the League of Women Voters in New Paltz and openly admitted that he would not vote for any bill—"even a good one"—unless the party bosses gave him the green light. In his own words, here is proof that he considers the needs of the people AFTER partisan politics. Here's more proof:

VOTED "NO" ON INCREASING UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS

This bill would have increased weekly unemployment benefits to a maximum of $36. The party high-command send down the word "no dice," and the Ulster County Assemblyman obediently voted against discharging the bill from Committee.

VOTED "NO" ON FLOOD RELIEF

Impossible to believe—but true! "Our" Assemblyman voted against the bill that would have provided $2,000,000 in state aid for restoration of public facilities damaged in the floods. He then tried to cover himself with glory by substituting another bill which was a word-for-word copy of the original Democratic bill—EXCEPT that state aid was cut 25%. This was treason to the people who elected him.

VOTED "NO" ON EDUCATIONAL TV

In 1954, the Ulster County Assemblyman voted against a bill to develop a state-operated pilot project for EDUCATIONAL TELEVISION. The bill had the support of all major teachers' organizations. On a public platform two weeks ago, the Assemblyman was asked why he voted against the bill. His reply indicated that he didn't even know what the bill was about—its provisions, nature, or intent. But that didn't matter. Like Charlie McCarthy, he just voted the way he was told.

ULSTER COUNTY IS TIRED OF THIS KIND OF INDIFFERENT REPRESENTATION!

Gene Glusker, Mayor of Ellenville, promises to work for the needs of all the people, by supporting measures like the above. Gene's outstanding record in last year's flood is an example of how his concern goes beyond his official responsibilities. He helped many communities in Ulster County organize relief and rescue operations—while the present assemblyman NEVER ONCE CALLED TO HELP.

In the Village of Ellenville, he has shown great foresight in instituting studies for adequate water supply and sewage systems for a growing community. HE APPOINTED THE FIRST WOMAN TRUSTEE AND THE FIRST NEGRO POLICEMAN IN THE HISTORY OF ELLENVILLE. A vote for Gene Glusker is a vote for sincere, conscientious government.

Armstrong Tallies 3 TDs, Chase 2 as KHS Rips Middies, 32-0

High School Extends Perfect Mark to Six

BY SAM ANZALONE
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Sophomore whiz Hobie Armstrong almost single-handedly crushed Middletown High School, scoring three touchdowns as Kingston High ran its all-winning record to six games with a 32-0 shutout of the Middies Saturday at Wilson Field.

The victory was the third in the DUSO League for the Maroons and protected their lead over second place Newburgh Free Academy which also won. The Goldbacks at 2-0 in the loop.

It also brought KHS one step closer to its first perfect season since way back in 1915. Only two teams stand in the path of a perfect season for coach Bill Burke's mighty juggernaut—Beacon and Newburgh.

Most everyone came to see the much heralded 15-year-old halfback strut his stuff and he didn't send a soul home disappointed. After end Bill Chase caught two touchdown passes in the first period to lock up the verdict real early, Armstrong gave the Middies a lesson in offense.

75-Yard March

He sparked a 75-yard march in the second period, carrying the ball six times in an 11-play move before piling over from the three. In the third period he whirled 68 wonderful yards, changing speeds, picking holes as he fled through almost the entire Middle team down the sidelines. The final score was a 32-0 victory for Kingston over Middletown.

The impregnable Kingston defense also put on a dazzling show. It held the Middies to minus yards rushing and generally terrorized the backs. The little success MHS enjoyed was through the air where it completed five passes for 82 yards. Witness to the devastating effectiveness of the defense was the fact that Middletown penetrated Kingston territory just four times and its deepest move was to the 24 in the opening quarter.

There was no doubt of the eventual winner after Middletown graciously fumbled the opening kickoff on its own 37 and tackle Fran Janeczek recovered to set up the first score. A few moments later quarterback Joe White pitched a perfect strike to Chase down the middle and he pranced to paydirt. The play covered 36 yards. Fullback Bill Cragan kicked his first of the extra points in five attempts for a 7-0 margin.

First Long Drive

After a Middle drive stalled on the KHS 37, the Maroons started their first sustained march for their second score. It took them nine plays to negotiate the 63 yards as Armstrong, Cragan, Bob Smith and Larry Johnson took turns carrying the ball. Finally on the 23, White connected with Chase in the end zone with time running out in the period.

Armstrong's first TD and the banishment of fullback Ron Goodrich of Middletown and Kingston's captain and center Pete Blanshan highlighted the second period.

Blanshan tackled the Middle and while on the ground, Goodrich threw a punch at Pete who struck back, naturally. The officials then tossed both out of the game for the rest of the afternoon.

Armstrong's electrifying runs were all there was left of interest in the second half. The Middies were so outclassed that it was pitiful. Without doubt, coach John Nania presented his weak-

Syracuse-Penn State Game To Decide Eastern Honors

(By The Associated Press)

Two of the east's top college football teams—Syracuse and Penn State—collide in Archbold Stadium in Syracuse Saturday in a game that promises to boost Lambert trophy hopes for the winner.

Colgate, out of the running for the trophy, but still listed as a giant-killer, journeys to West Point to meet Army while Cornell takes on Columbia at Baker Field in the Bronx.

Upstate's elite, undefeated Alfred and Hamilton, are slated for home games Saturday. The Alfred Saxons, 26-19 winner over Buffalo last Saturday, take on American International College of Springfield, Mass., in a night game. Hamilton will be host to Kenyon of Ohio at Clinton. The Continentals defeated Haverford 41-6 last Saturday.

As usual, Jim Brown was Syracuse's big gun in its 21-7 comeback victory over a stubborn Boston University eleven last Saturday in Boston.

Brown did all the scoring for the Orange after the Terriers took a 7-0, first period edge.

Al Jamison was the standout performer in Colgate's 14-6 up-

FYL Gets Babe Ruth League Charter

200 Attend Annual Banquet At Elks Club

The formal adoption of the charter for the Babe Ruth League and the honoring of the Volunteer Firemen baseball team highlighted the annual banquet of the Fraternal Youth League Saturday at the Elks Club.

About 200 persons, including players from each of the nine teams, attended the affair. William Straub, athletic director of Saugerties High School, was the principal speaker.

Straub delivered an inspiring talk on how baseball helps build character and lends prestige to the youth of our nation. He outlined the working of the Babe Ruth League and told of his association with the league in Saugerties for the past five years.

In his speech, Straub set forth 10 principals for boys to follow who are interested in making baseball a career. He also made several suggestions on how the Kingston Babe Ruth League could operate at peak efficiency.

The evening was climaxed by the awarding of trophies and the presentation of the charter by Straub to Leonard Ellsworth, president of the FYL. Trophies went to the Vols, the Kiwanis, the runnerup, and the American Legion, third place team.

James Gilpatrick, vice-president, acted as toastmaster and introduced several notables. They included Harry Edson, Andrew Murphy III, superintendent of recreation and past president of the FYL; Les Munson, commander VFW; Julius Glassman, president of KPA; Jim Volker, president of Old Timers Baseball Assn.; Harold Anderson, president of American Little League; Ernie Scribner, Charles Higgins, Lou Sapp, all past presidents of FYL and managers Lou Studt, Ed Jordan, Julie Albertini, George McCordle, Ken Blundell.

Ellsworth also spoke briefly and expressed the regrets of Mayor Stang who was out of town and unable to attend the affair.

The Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick offered the invocation and Rev. Horace C. Walser delivered the Benediction.

Brooks High on Japanese Slugger

Tokyo, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are encountering all sorts of surprises on their barnstorming tour of Japan.

For one they've surprised themselves with their lack of hitting against Japanese talent. In eight games played through Sunday, of which the Dodgers won five, lost two and tied one, they have come up with 42 runs on 79 hits, including 12 homers.

The supposedly weak Japanese batters have scored 29 runs on 44 hits, including 7 four-baggers. Although the Brooklyn totals seem adequate, much of the scoring and slugging has come in two or three of the games, one of them a 6-1, 15-hit victory over the Japan All-Stars Sunday. Observers feel the Brooks are still showing signs of strain and fatigue from their grueling pennant race, World Series and long plane ride.

There have been other surprises. The Dodgers still talk about what pitcher Mitsuo Osaki of the Osaka Tigers did after he was pulled out of a game. Instead of retiring to the showers, Osaki whistled up a catcher and began pitching at an imaginary plate on the sidelines.

The hitting of the Yomiuri Giants' Tetsuji Kawakami is another conversation piece. So impressed have the Brooklyn players been that they've dubbed him the "Japanese Lou Gehrig."

A few of the Brooks—well known for their discussions with umpires—have picked up a word to hurl at Japanese umpires. At every questionable decision, they shout "Mekura! Mekura!"

Mekura means blind.

Liberty High clinched second place in the West Shore football league by upending favored Highland High, 14-13, Saturday at the New Paltz field.

Liberty halfback John Lawrence's first quarter heroics helped the Redskins to their surprise victory. He recovered a Highland fumble on the 32 yard line and then bolted through middle to score from the 8 yard line.

The Indians came from behind to clinch the victory with a fourth period TD and conversion after Highland went ahead 13-7 at the end of three periods.

Valentino Scores

Bob Valentino cracked over from the four-yard line for Highland in the second quarter. The Highlands picked up their second touchdown in the third quarter on a 66-yard march, with Ed Sagarese going over from the 21. Valentino made only one of the two tries for extra point and that was the story of the ball game.

Highland appeared to be on its way to a score late in the fourth quarter but a fumble on the 12 crushed their hopes.

Mr. Fitz Denies Serious Injury To Bold Ruler

Camden, N. J., Oct. 29 (AP)—Reports that Bold Ruler suffered severe cuts when he stumbled in the Garden State Stakes on Saturday were denied today by Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, and the veteran trainer said the 2-year-old colt would be able to start in the $50,000-added Remsen Stakes Nov. 6 at Jamaica.

Bold Ruler was the leading candidate for the 2-year-old championship honors until his mishap in the $319,210 Garden State which was won by Calumet Farm's Barbizon in an exciting nose finish with Clifford Lusk's Federal Hill.

Nothing Serious

"He received a couple of scratches, but nothing serious," said the 82-year-old Mr. Fitz who sent Bold Ruler back to his home

Nats' Rookies Spell Trouble For NBA Rivals

By The Associated Press

Take the right amount of veteran basketball players, sprinkle generously with some top-flight rookies and the product—a championship threat in the National Basketball Association with the Syracuse brand name.

The Nationals, who forged into third place in the Eastern Division only by virtue of a playoff, have applied this potent formula in two games this season, winning both. Last night they overwhelmed the Rochester Royals 91-75 with a brilliant second-half foray to leap to the top of the league with a 2-0 record.

Bianchi Hits 13

While the Nats were parading their new found prowess, the strong Fort Wayne Pistons secured a 94-88 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers.

Syracuse got 20 points from Veteran Dolph Schayes in breaking the game open with 13 straight points after a 39-36 half-time lead. But it was rookie Al Bianchi, formerly of Bowling Green, who provided the points in the third-period spree, accounting for seven of the 13 markers. He totaled 18 for the evening.

George Washington's rookie contribution to the pros, Joe Joe Holup, added 11 points to the Nat total.

Saugerties Edges Stubborn Cocksackie Eleven, 21 to 19

Sawyers Score In Final Minute For 6th Straight

Classy halfback George Neher scored all three Saugerties High touchdowns, the last one with a minute to play, to spark the unbeaten Sawyers to their sixth win, a 21-19 victory over Cocksackie Saturday.

Neher ran 13, 47 and 6 yards to paydirt to turn back stubborn Cocksackie in a breathtaking contest. But the margin of difference was three extra points, two kicked by quarterback Don Whitaker and the third on a Whitaker to Neher pass.

Saugerties ran into its toughest foe of the season and had to rally from behind to keep its unblemished record intact. With time running out, Whitaker completed a clutch pass of 29 yards to end John Hansen on the six. Neher then bolted across for the game-winning TD.

The Sawyers built up a 14-0 lead in the first half as Neher shot tackle for 13 yards and sprinted 47 on a beautiful double reverse in the second period.

Fumbles lost the margin for the Sawyers as the alert upstaters recovered three bobbles and turned them into scores. In the third period, Frank Sacco turned end for a 20 yard scoring jaunt. Later in the same period, Bob Brennen plunged over from the one to slash the Sawyer lead to 14-13.

Barry Martin hurled a 23 yard scoring pass to end Harry Schoole in the fourth quarter and Cocksackie appeared to be home free. But then came Neher's game-saving run.

Saugerties still has a game with New Paltz left on the schedule, but it is a doubtful contest since the Huguenots abandoned football temporarily about a month ago.

The veteran Broskie slammed successive counts of 245, 213 and 245 on alleys 7 and 8 at the Central Recs. The 276 by Ferraro eclipsed the old standard of 268 held by Broskie.

Ferraro's big solo was part of 683, his other games being 218 and 189 as the Dairymen battered the maples for a 3124 count against Mardi Bobs of Poughkeepsie on games of 1021, 1011 and 1092 despite 10 misses.

Ellenville Shanahans surprised GI Joe's Express, 2-1 and the refurbished Economy Electric's snapped one game from the league leading Forst Formosts in matches at Ellenville.

Oster Captures All Star Bowling Eliminations

Earns Right to Represent Area At the Nationals

Jerry Oster, one of the bright, young stars in the local tenpin firmament, will represent the mid-Hudson district in the National All Star Bowling classic at Chicago in December.

The young bowling wizard, by way of Detroit, dethroned defending champion Johnny Ferraro, in the four-man finals Sunday at Middletown, racking up 37.18 Petersen points and a 196 average for the eight-game route.

Ferraro finished fourth in the fourman field with 32.35 points but had scored high average of 191.7.

Jim Lavery of Poughkeepsie, who led through the last two blocks of the 24-game eliminations, finished second with 33.36 Petersen points. Ken Joseph of Kingston was third with 33.2 points.

Oster won six of eight games, losing only to John Ferraro 214-158 and Ken Joseph 198-183. He picked up five points each on scores of 234, 210, 210 and 209.

He led with 26.49 Petersen points at the end of the preliminary round robin with Ferraro second at 25.9 points, Lavery 24.4 and Joseph 23 points.

FirstLightHeavyweight Elimination Bout Set

By JACK HAND

The Associated Press

Plans for a light heavyweight elimination tournament to provide a successor for Archie Moore—if and when—have been set back by an injury to Willie Hoepner, German import. Hoepner, to have fought Chuck Spieser of Detroit Wednesday in a 12-round bout at Chicago.

The International Boxing Club had to scramble its schedule to fill the date, moving up the Joe Miceli-Carlo Sarlo match from Nov. 7. Hoepner's U. S. debut will be rescheduled when his injury has mended.

Anthony vs. Wallace

As a result of this change of schedule, the first light heavy elimination scrap now will be Tony Anthony-Gordon Wallace at Madison Square Garden, Dec. 7.

Norkus Meets Rowan

Charlie Norkus and Joe Rowan, a pair of heavyweights with records to show they either knocked out their man or get knocked out, top the Monday card at St. Nicholas Arena in New York. (Dumont-TV).

Norkus, 28, has been in with the best during his 40-bout career. His record is 26-14 with 16 knockouts. Rowan, 22, has a 28-9-1 record for 38 starts with 13 knockouts. Each has been stopped four times.

Friday's Fight

Henry (Toothpick) Brown, the Philadelphia lightweight with two straight first round knockouts to his credit, takes on experienced Paolo Rosi of Italy and New York's Bronx in the Friday bout from Washington. Madison Square Garden will be occupied by the horse show, hence the shift.

The Brown-Rosi match will be carried on NBC.

Tuesday Bouts

Ike Chestnut, a ranking featherweight contender, takes on Gil Cadilli, at Houston in a big Tuesday show. Billy (Sweet-pea) Peacock, and Rudy Garcia, two Los Angeles bantams, clash in another Tuesday bout at Los Angeles. On the same night, Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., will attempt to strengthen his welter claims against Jimmy Ford at Miami Beach.

ON THE MOVE—Bobby Larson of Pine Bush picks up some yardage as Onteora's Ted Jensen races up from behind to try to head him off. Action took place Saturday at Boiceville as Onteora won, 19-6. (Freeman photo).

Jensen Scores Twice

Onteora Wins Finale Over Pine Bush, 19-6

Onteora Central School scored all its points in the second period to whip Pine Bush, 19-6, Saturday in the Indians football finale of the season at Boiceville.

A goodly crowd turned out to welcome the Indians in their first game on their new home field behind the school, and they didn't go home disappointed. Onteora didn't surrender a score until the final period when Mickey Amore passed eight yards to Pat Murray for a touchdown.

Halfback Ted Jensen celebrated his final appearance in an Onteora football uniform by scoring two touchdowns. Charlie Cange, who ran for three TDs last week, tallied the other on a pass.

Jensen opened the scoring on a one yard plunge. He set up the touchdown with passes to ends Norm Boggs and Art Gribbens. Boggs' aerial covered 15 yards and Gribbens' advanced the leather to the one.

Onteora scored again a few moments later when the Bushmen gambled on fourth down on their 20 and lost. The Indians took over and after a Lou Vanacore to Cange pass moved the ball to the eight, Jensen romped across.

A pass interception by Cribbens on the Pine Bush 47 paved the way for the Indians' other TD. From that spot Vanacore heaved a pass to Cange who made a sensational shoe string catch and pranced into the end zone.

The only extra point of the game was made by Vanacore from placement after the first TD.

The victory was Onteora's third in five games. They dropped a verdict to a good Guilander eleven and tied Cornwall. Its other wins over Hunter-Tannersville and New Paltz.

Coach Ed Witko was very pleased with the victory which came over a solid Pine Bush team. The Bushmen outweighed the home club both in the line and backfield and with the exception of the second quarter played sound ball.

Elvis Would Roll

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rock 'n' Roll King Elvis Presley says he'd go back to driving a truck if he thought his type of entertainment contributed to juvenile delinquency. Presley, here for a TV appearance last night, told a newsmen: "If I thought that was true, sir, I would quit and go back to driving a truck. I wouldn't do anything to hurt anybody, sir. Money doesn't mean anything to me. It's this business I love." The 21-year-old singer said he had grossed more than one million dollars this year.

Soldier Is Held After Shooting In Niagara Home

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—Pfc. Louis J. Pirastru, 28, of this city, faces arraignment today on a charge of first degree murder which followed the Saturday shooting of a 22-year-old factory worker.

The victim, Charles Cole of Miami, Fla., was shot in the head in Pirastru's apartment during a scuffle which police said followed Pirastru's return on leave from Ft. Polk, La. Cole came here to work in May.

Authorities said Pirastru told them he came home to visit his wife Velma, 30, and found Cole in the bedroom of his three-room, second story apartment. He told police his wife was in another room. He and Cole argued and then fought, he went on, during the fight, a .25 caliber Italian pistol he was carrying, discharged, he told police.

Authorities said Cole then staggered down a flight of steps and collapsed in the entry way to the building. He died a short time later in a hospital. Detectives said they found three spent bullets in the apartment.

Ike's Hometown Paper Supports Adlai

Denison, Tex., Oct. 29 (AP)—The Denison Herald, President Eisenhower's hometown newspaper, came out editorially yesterday for Adlai Stevenson.

"We know where the Democratic party stands, whether it be under the leadership of Adlai Stevenson or anyone else, but the new Republican party under President Eisenhower is an enigma—to us at least." Four years ago the paper took no stand.

Maglie 'Kidnapped' In Hometown Honors

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—"It's the first time I ever ran out on my wife," said Sal Maglie.

The Brooklyn Dodgers pitching star and World Series hero was referring to his "kidnapping" last night by some 60 youngsters here.

The kids lured Sal out of a restaurant where he was dining with his wife, Kay, threw a blanket over him, and carried him off in a motorcade. They proudly showed off their captive in every section of the city, before returning to the restaurant. Kay was still waiting.

"Shows you what a nice wife I got," Sal grinned.

Maglie was honored by his hometown Saturday when local fans presented him a station wagon, and a watch after a day of festivities.

Food Oddity

Favorite food of Japan's Awaji islanders is octopus. They buy it sun-dried and stretched on sticks, or alive from tanks of sea water. Tentacles, boiled and sliced, are choice portions.

THE 'SIX-FOOTER,' a heavy wool scarf in gay college colors, will be popular on campuses this winter. It's ideal for wear with popular suburban and toggle jackets, or with sports coats.
